The political arena has experienced a shake-up, and 2017 is likely to be a volatile time. Arnerich Massena’s article offers perspective on five major trends that are likely to affect investors next year:

- Globalism versus nationalism
- Active management: the Comeback Kid
- Eyes on inflation and interest rates
- Participation, activism, and impact investing
- Sector opportunities

Arnerich Massena senior research analyst Arthur Coyne, CFA, comments, “In 2015, we titled our 2016 investment trends article, ‘Tipping the Apple Cart.’ This year, the apple cart has tipped and fully overturned. Change is happening faster than ever and we are likely to see a great deal more of it this year. It’s exciting to us to look ahead for the opportunities that will arise.
