Arnerich Massena Welcomes New Consultant Corrie Oliva

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 2, 2016 —Arnerich Massena Inc., an independent investment advisory firm specializing in forward-thinking investment strategies and retirement plan consulting services, announces that Corrie Oliva, CFA, has joined the firm as a consultant in the Institutional Services Division. Ms. Oliva will provide consulting services to corporate, public, and not-for-profit clients.

Ms. Oliva brings more than 15 years of experience in the investment industry. Prior to joining Arnerich Massena, she served as the vice president of Advisory Services for Heintzberger Payne Advisors and as a principal and consultant for RVK, Inc. Corrie Oliva earned a B.S. in business administration with finance and real estate concentrations cum laude from the University of San Diego and a Master of Science in financial analysis from Portland State University. She has earned the Chartered Financial Analyst designation and is a member of the Portland chapter of the CFA Society, serving as the Public Awareness Chair of the Board of Directors. She was named to the Top Women Advisors MVP List in 2015 by the National Association of Plan Advisors (NAPA).

“We are very excited to have Corrie joining our team,” said Terri Schwartz, managing director of Institutional Services and Business Development. “She brings the perfect skill and knowledge set to serve our clients. Her depth of experience and understanding of the retirement plan landscape and institutional investment industry will be of enormous value to our clients.”

Tony Arnerich, CEO and CIO, concurs: “Corrie is a great addition to the firm. We have a very strong institutional services team, and bringing Corrie on will enhance our capabilities even further.”

Arnerich Massena is dedicated to continued investment in a robust Institutional Services division, and the hire of Corrie Oliva reflects our ongoing commitment to deliver world-class services and advice to our clients.
